Personal Growth

The British School's traditions and strong set of values are at the heart of everything we do. The Mission guides us and provides a clear focus in developing self-confident, creative, inquiring, fully bilingual students who will strive to develop their talents to the best of their abilities.

For more than 100 years, the School has maintained Physical Activity as the beating heart of the educational experience of the School. In addition to the well established flagship sports of rugby and hockey, students also enjoy active participation and competition in a variety of activities such as athletics, football, basketball, handball and tennis. The British Schools is committed to extensive and innovative Sports and Physical Education programmes because we believe that physical activity in its many guises contributes to achieving many of the aims of the Mission Statement.

Sports and Physical Education programmes:

- Contribute to a healthy life style; whilst at school and all through life.
- Develop self esteem and self confidence.
- Encourage personal responsibility, collective discipline and team work.
- Create a sense of pride in performance and community.
- Develop motor skills, and nurture physical development.
- Promote the notion of "fair play" with the inherent values of honesty, integrity and respect.
- Provide a channel for the release of energy which might otherwise find negative expression within the school and the community.

Sport is both integral and vital to the life of the School; providing opportunities for students to make new friends learn new skills, work with teachers outside of the classroom, and to have fun!

Physical Development

"I've missed more than 9,000 shots in my career. I've lost almost 300 games. Twenty-six times I've been trusted to take the game-winning shot and missed. I've failed over and over and over again in my life. And that is why I succeed." Michael Jordan (USA, Basketball player)

"When considering the stature of an athlete or for that matter any person, I set great store in certain qualities which I believe to be essential in addition to skill. They are that the person conducts his or her life with dignity, with integrity, courage, and perhaps most of all, with modesty. These virtues are totally compatible with pride, ambition, and competitiveness." Don Bradman (Australia, Cricketer)
